USA FOOTBALL NAMES SAN DIEGO'S BEN NARRAMORE TO YOUTH FOOTBALL RULES COMMITTEE

Palomar Pop Warner Conference Coach & Administrator Named to National 10-Person Committee

USA Football, the sport's national governing body on youth and amateur levels, has named BEN NARRAMORE of San Diego, to its Youth Football Rules Committee. Narramore, a Palomar Pop Warner Conference coach and administrator, is one of 10 people named to this national advisory panel. USA Football members reside in all 50 states and Washington, D.C.

USA Football selected Narramore for his leadership of one of the most successful youth football leagues in Southern California.

This USA Football committee provides insight on youth football-related rules and issues that impact the game nationwide, including the USA Football rulebook and national playing standards.

"I am very excited to be supporting one of the world's most visionary efforts to improve youth football, and I'm having fun doing something I think is relevant and important for the game of football," said Narramore. "The game has kept me young, involved and excited and for me to be a member of the USA Football Rules Committee is an honor. "

"Ben's work on our Rules Committee will impact thousands of leagues that connect youngsters to America's favorite sport," said USA Football Executive Director SCOTT HALLENBECK. "The success that the Palomar Pop Warner Conference has experienced is attributable to Ben and other dedicated volunteers like him. We're proud to have him on our team."
